DETAILED ACTION

Continued Examination Under 37 CFR 1.114

1. A request for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, including the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e), was filed in this application after final rejection. Since this application is eligible for continued examination under 37 CFR 1.114, and the fee set forth in 37 CFR 1.17(e) has been timely paid, the finality of the previous Office action has been withdrawn pursuant to 37 CFR 1.114. Applicant's submission filed on 12/21/07 has been entered.

Double Patenting

2. A rejection based on double patenting of the "same invention" type finds its support in the language of 35 U.S.C. 101 which states that "whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process ... may obtain a patent therefor ..." (Emphasis added). Thus, the term "same invention," in this context, means an invention drawn to identical subject matter. See Miller v. Eagle Mfg. Co., 151 U.S. 186 (1894); In re Ockert, 245 F.2d 467, 114 USPQ 330 (CCPA 1957); and In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970).

A statutory type (35 U.S.C. 101) double patenting rejection can be overcome by canceling or amending the conflicting claims so they are no longer coextensive in scope. The filing of a terminal disclaimer cannot overcome a double patenting rejection based upon 35 U.S.C. 101.

3. Claims 1-3, 5-9 are provisionally rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 as claiming the same invention as that of claims 1-24 of copending Application No. 10/495,106. This is a provisional double patenting rejection since the conflicting claims have not in fact been patented.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-3, 5-9 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Miyake et al., U.S. Pat. Application Pub. 2005/0019655 A1.

The applied reference has a common assignee and inventors with the instant application. Based upon the earlier effective U.S. filing date of the reference, it constitutes prior art under 35 U.S.C. 102(e). This rejection under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) might be overcome either by a showing under 37 CFR 1.132 that any invention disclosed but not claimed in the reference was derived from the inventor of this application and is thus not the invention "by another," or by an appropriate showing under 37 CFR 1.131.

Miyake et al., teach a non-aqueous electrolyte secondary battery comprising a positive electrode, a negative electrode, and a non-aqueous electrolyte, wherein said positive electrode includes elemental sulfur (abstract), and said negative electrode includes silicon that stores lithium (claim 3); and the liquid electrolyte includes a quaternary ammonium salt (0015). It teaches the electrolyte includes a room temperature molten salt having a melting point of not higher than 60 degrees C

(abstract). It teaches the molten salt includes trimethylpropylammonium bis(trifluoromethylsulfonyl)imide (0025). It teaches the non-aqueous electrolyte further includes at least one type of solvent selected from the group consisting of cyclic ether, chain ether, and fluorinated carbonate (0016). The non-aqueous electrolyte secondary battery according to claim 6, wherein said cyclic ether includes at least one type selected from the group consisting of 1,3-dioxolane and tetrahydrofuran (0027); said chain ether preferably includes 1,2-dimethoxyethane (0029); and said fluorinated carbonate includes at least one type selected from the group consisting of trifluoropropylene carbonate and tetrafluoropropylene carbonate (0030). It teaches a conductive agent is added to the positive electrode (0021; 0080).

Thus, the claims are anticipated.

Response to Arguments

6. Applicant's arguments with respect to above claims have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.
